KACHIC AND WATSON FREE

A Decision Handed Down Tuesday by Judge Orvis

HIS OPINION IN FULL

Both Men Almost Cried When They Heard the Good News of Their Freedom

"THANK GOD I AM FREE" SAYS KACHIC

Andrew Kachic and Harry Watson are free. And two happier men you would not want to meet than these two fellows when seen by a reporter of this paper 10 minutes after they received the news of their freedom. Kachic said "Thank God I am free" while Watson said "I have passed through nearly three years of Hell since being in that prison and from this time on I am going to be a man."

The word joy cannot express the feeling in these two hearts when they knew that freedom was their's. They thanked the reporter of this paper for publishing the story they gave him from their prison cells and for the complete account of the habeas corpus hearing The decision Judge Orvis handed down on Tuesday afternoon is lengthy, but we give his opinion in full. It is as follows:

A series of homicides, all committed within a few months, has shocked the citizens of this county, and has naturally created a strong public sentiment demanding the arrest and conviction of the guilty persons. This sentiment is a natural and proper one and is entitled to most careful consideration. On account of this sentiment and from their sense of duty, the County Commissioners and District Attorney have labored hard to secure sufficient evidence that would lead to the conviction of such persons as believed by them to be guilty:

The case of the killing of John Kachic certainly had strange circumstances surrounding it and the elements of grave suspicion. The facts as detailed on the witness stand all tend to throw some atmosphere of suspicion around Andrew Kachic and inferentially around Harry Watson, because it was admitted that the two relators were together during the night upon which the death of John Kachic occurred. There was ample evidence of a bitter feeling between the two Kachics. That Andrew had knocked John down on the third night and assaulted and choked John the last night preceding the latter's death. That the feeling was so bitter that Andrew refused to treat John on the night of the death, and made threats against him at the same time, and that just prior to that he had made threats of a very serious character. There is also some evidence of a knife wound in the dead man's throat, severing the jugular vein which would of itself result in the death of any living person unless promptly cared for. On the other hand, the body had been violently dismembered by a passing train of cars, the head being cut off manifestly by a car wheel and the treatment of the body by the chemicals of the undertaker made it more or less difficult for the physicians to testify as to whether the knife wound had been made prior or subsequent to death. The Commonweath's evidence further shows the two petitioners when last seen going towards their home and away from the scene of the killing. There is no evidence directly or indirectly connecting the relators either in time or place with the alleged homicide, nor are there any subsequent facts adduced in evidence to connect them with the tragedy. There are no blood stains on the clothing of the prisoners, no evidence of a struggle, they are not brought close enough in time and place to the supposed killing as to require them to give an explanation of the same. At this stage of the case we do not pass upon the credibility of the evidence or upon the guilt or innocence of the relators, but whether or not the Commonweath has made out a case to legally justify a trial of the prisoners. We think not. The prisoners have not been heard in their defense, their story is not known to us, but the Commonwealth itself has failed upon its own evidence to make out a case that would allow us to permit a verdict of guilty. They have made out a case on suspicion, perhaps even strong suspicion. This might be entirely dissipated by the evidence on part of the defense. In view of the evidence of suspicion somewhat implicating the relators, of the startling character of the facts surrounding John Kachic's death, and the necessity for courts to protect the public as far as possible from a recurrence of bloody crimes, we have most anxiously examined and considered both the law and evidence in his case, and feel compelled to make the following decree.

And now, to wit, January 29, 1907, upon hearing the proofs and allegations of the prosecutor and defendants, it is hereby ordered that Andrew Kachic and Harry Watson be discharged from further custody, and that Henry Kline, Sheriff, be ordered and directed to discharge the same.

Of Interest to Odd Fellows.

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the I. O. O. F. held Saturday evening in the hall of lodge No. 98 in Lock Haven the following sub-committees were appointed to assist in arranging the details for the coming celebration that will be held in this city on April 26th.

Decorating Committee—I. A. Shaffer, Sr., George Weaver, John S. Steiner and George D. Fox

Printing Committee—George A. Miller, N. B. Hanna, Wilson Kessinger and William Williams.

Soliciting Committee—W. W. Miller, I. A. Shaffer, Jr., W. C. Bauman, Morris Baer and John P. Anthony.

The music reception and other committees will be appointed later. It is the intention of the executive committee to make this one of the biggest affairs ever held in the district and with this end in view they are already making preparations for the event.

One of the features decided on to advertise the event was that they will order 5,000 lapel buttons which will be sent to the different towns in the district. The words "Meet in Lock Haven, April 26th" will be stamped on them.

Samuel G. Davis was appointed chief marshal of the parade, with power to appoint his own aids.

The music this year will be a feature of the parade. The committee will engage several bands, one of which, the reception band will be the best that can be secured in this district. The committee who propose to advertise the event throughout the entire district anticipate that there will be 10 000 Odd Fellows and visitors in this city on that day.

J. Calvin Meyer Esq. President.

Nearly all of the first issue of the bonds of the new Bickford Fire Brick company has been sold and it is expected that the whole of his first issue will be closed out within the next 10 days. As stated heretofore in these columns the plant is to be located in DuBois and will be one of the largest in the country. The company owns, 1,500 acres of valuable clay land in Union township, Clearfield county, and a railroad is to be built from these lands to the works at DuBois. J. Calvin Meyer of Bellefonte, the president of the company accompanied by J. A. Bickford the treasurer and general manager and H. S. Satterlee of Lock Haven were in DuBois the past few days attending to matters incident to selecting a location for the plant. As soon as this is done and the weather permits, the work of constructing the big plant will begin and pushed rapidly along to an early completion.

The disposal of nearly all of the first issue of the bonds insure the erection of the plant and indicates that the public has faith in the success of the enterprise. For the present the office of the company is located in Lock Haven and is in charge of General Manager Bickford and his son S. M. Bickford who is the secretary of the company.

Salvation Army at the Jail.

The unhappy creatures at the jail were made happy on Sunday by the members of the Salvation Army going there and conducting a service of song and prayer. They are following out the scripture in visiting the poor, needy and those who are in prison, and we feel sure God will bless them in their work although there may not be any outward signs as to the good they are doing. They are planting the seed which in time will spring up and bear fruit. The prisoners all took an active part in the services and helped wonderfully in the singing. Kachic, Watson and Rider all showed a great interest in the services.

PRIMARIES ARE QUIET

Bars Closed from 1 to 9 Under the New Law

GOOD MEN CHOSEN

To Serve the People of Bellefonte Borough at the Primaries on Saturday.

RANKIN AND SPEER NOMINATED

The Primaries on Saturday passed off in a remarkably quiet manner and when the polls closed at nine o'clock in the evening both parties were perfectly satisfied with the men they had nominated as candidates for the borough and ward offices. The only fight was for Overseer of the Poor on the Republican ticket. Five candidates presented themselves before the party for the nomination and it was only possible to nominate one and the other four had to take a back seat. The count for this office is as follows:

	N ward	S ward	W ward
J. H. Rine	2	19	12	33
S. Gault	31	2	1	34
H. B. Kerns	38	12	2	52
H. Knisely	33	21	17	71
I. Miller	11	19	1	31

Knisely having the greatest number of votes was declared the nominee on the Republican ticket.

William B. Rankin of the North Ward received the nomination for borough Treasurer on the Republican ticket, while William T. Speer of the West Ward was chosen by the Democrats.

Thomas Sexton, Esq., received the nomination for auditor on the Democratic ticket and C. K. Hicklen received the honors from the Republican party.

In the North Ward on the Republican ticket these men were nominated.

Samuel B Miller—Judge of Election
George William—Inspector
S Andrew Bell—Assessor
H C Quigley—School Director 3yrs
H P Harris— " " 1yr
Harry Keller—Councilman

In the South Ward.

Charles Miller—Judge of election
James Lowery—Inspector
George Smith—Assessor
John Sourbeck—School Director
James Seibert—Councilman

In the West Ward.

Isaac Thomas—Judge of election
J Ellis Stine—Inspector
Jno. McGinley—Assessor
Darius Waite—School Director
Edward Haupt—Councilman

The Democrats nominated the following men in the North Ward.

W H Hunsinger—Judge of election
John Lane—Inspector
Williard Barnhart—Assessor
L C Wallace—School Director 1yr
J P Smith— " " 3yrs

They had no candidate for councilman

In the South Ward.

George Doll—Judge of election
William Johnson—Inspector
D Paul Fortney—Assessor
William C Heinle—School Director
Philip Beezer—Councilman

In the West Ward

Abram Luckenbach—Judge of election
William Taylor—Inspector
James Barnhart—School Director
Lew McQuistion—Assessor
Dominic Judge—Councilman

The primaries were largely attended by both parties and splendid men have been nominated for these offices, and we know the positions will be filled with care and faithfulness by either of the two parties. In the case of School Director in the South Ward John D. Sourbeck says he positively will not be a candidate against Senator Heinle.

False Alarm of Fire.

On Monday evening about 7:30 the fire alarm sounded and created quite an excitement throughout the town. The two fire companies hurriedly made arrangements to get on the scene of conflagation when they received the word that it was only a false alarm. There is a steam pipe on the Garman residence that comes from the bath room and some passerby imagined the escaping steam to be smoke, sent in an alarm. Quite a crowd of spectators had gathered expecting to see a large fire. We don't want any more fires in Bellefonte, at least not this time of the year.

THE HARVEST WAS RIPE.

Many Souls Have Been Saved and Brought Into the Kingdom.

Last Sunday was the Communion season in the Presbyterian Church, and a most delightful service was held. The two weeks of special services preparatory to the Communion had been productive of good results, and 32 persons were received into the membership of the Church by the Session. Twenty-eight of these came on Confession of Faith, and four by letter from other churches. All of these were welcomed publicly at the Communion except some who were detained by sickness and other good reasons, They came to the front as their names were read, and made a circle extending clear across the room, and around in front of the side seats. It was a sight not soon to be forgotten, as the whole congregation rose to express their welcome to the new members, and the pastor extended the Right Hand of Fellowship, while all sang together "Blest be the tie that binds." Three Communion services have been held since Dr. Platts came here nine months ago, and 76 new members have been received into the Church in that time.

Below will be found a list of those who united with the church at this time:

Another Notable Appointment at State College.

Following the appointment of Dr. B. E. Fernow as Professor of Forestry at State College, comes an equally notable appointment.

The Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College, at its meeting at Harrisburg, announced the appointment of Alva Agee, member of the Board of Control of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, as Professor of Agricultural Extension in the School of Agriculture.

The School of Agriculture announces that, in addition to its regular four year courses in Agriculture, which begin on September 12th, that it will offer five short courses, viz: A Creamery Course, Dairy Husbandry, General Agriculture, Horticulture and Poultry Husbandry. These courses begin December 3rd and continue twelve weeks. Mr. Agee is to be principal of these short courses and will be available to lecture without charge before Farmers' Clubs, Granges and other organizations designed to promote agriculture in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Agee is already well and favorably known in Pennsylvania as an Agricultural writer and as a farmer's institute speaker.

The announcement of his appointment at State College was received with great enthusiasm by members of the various State Agricultural Meetings in session at Harrisburg this week.

Standing on his Head Proves Fatal to Boy.

Standing on his head to amuse his father and brother the other morning caused the death the next evening of Walter Higgins, eight years old, of 1315 East Oxford street, Phila. He was in high spirits, on the morning in question, capered about the house and stood on his head several times.

Late in the afternoon he complained that his head ached, and the pain continued all night. Next day a doctor was called in, but the pain grew worse instead of better, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day he became unconscious, dying three hours later.

Death, according to the physician, was caused by cerebral hemorrhage, brought about by a rapid flow of blood to the brain as the boy stood on his head.

DEATH OF JOHN W. MILLER.

Died in Altoona and Buried at Pleasant Gap.

An old Centre countian passed into that Great Beyond on Sunday morning at 7 o'clock.

John Wesley Miller died at the Altoona hospital last Sunday morning, after an illness lasting since December 12th. The cause of his death was tuberculosis. He was a stone mason by occupation and was 63 years old. He was born in Huntingdon county. He is survived by a wife and two sons Lewis and B. Frank Miller of Altoona and the following sisters and brothers Miss Jane Miller Mrs. Charlotte Eckenroth, of Pleasant Gap, Mrs. Lawrence Wian of Atlantic City; Mrs. Thomas Noll, of Pitcairn; and Mr. William H. Miller, of Millheim.

Mr. Miller although born in Huntingdon county was raised at the Gap having resided there for over 35 years. He was a man among men and always held in the highest esteem and respect by his friends and neighbors. He was buried Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Lutheran church at the Gap. Interment in the Union cemetery.

Methodist Parsonage Burned.

The Methodist parsonage at Mifflinburg caught fire on Sunday morning and before the flames were extinguished nearly everything was destroyed. The fire originated in the flew and rapidly spread all through the house. A small insurance was carried.

DEATH ANGEL BUSY.

Visited Four Homes at Pleasant Gap and Called Away Loved Ones.

Last Saturday Mrs. Oscar Lonebarger was called to rest. She had only been ill a few days with pneumonia when the summons came. She was a lady of a kind disposition and an earnest christian. She was 35 years of age, and was buried at Centre Hall on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The next one to be called was Uriah the 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tate who died on Sunday afternoon of typhoid fever. He was buried Tuesday afternoon at 1:30.

At 11 o'clock on Monday night after weeks of suffering with pneumonia, Mrs. Mary Gill mother of Mrs. Willis Grove of Bellefonte passed into that home of rest and peace where there is no more pain, sorrow and weeping, having lived a glorious life with Christ here on earth she was ready to go to Him on High to abide forever more. She was a mother who will be missed by her loved ones in the home. The home will be so empty without her, but to know that she is at rest should be a comfort to those she left behind. Mrs. Gill was 73 years old and about a month ago contracted pneumonia and afterwards a complication of diseases set in and her frail body could not endure the great struggle, and death came at the above mentioned hour. She will be buried on Friday morning from the Advent church at Zion of which she was a member. The following children are left to mourn her death. J. W., Albert, Oscar, and Nathaniel of Pleasant Gap; Newton of Huntingdon; George, of Tyrone; Harry, of State College; Mrs. Willis Grove and Mrs. Samuel Page of Bellefonte; Mrs. Harvey Baird of Pleasant Gap; and Mrs. Myra Armstrong of Nebraska.

The angel then visited the home of Mr. Amos Gill's and claimed his daughter Savilla, a young lady about 30 years of age. She passed into that "Great Beyond" at 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning. The cause of this young ladies death was due to pneumonia. She was a member of the Advent church at Zion and will be buried from there on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. She leaves a father, one brother Edward of Bellefonte; and three sisters, Emaline, Margaret and Virgie of Altoona.

WILLIAM H. BROWN DEAD

Father of Mrs. J. Kyle McFarlane, of Bellefonte.

William H. Brown died at his home on East Church street, Lock Haven, on Sunday morniug at 1 o'clock. Aged almost 80 years. He is survived by his wife, Margaret, and six children, Geo A. of Lock Haven, John F., of Erie; James W. H. and Annie M., of Williamsport; Mrs J. Kyle McFarlane, of Bellefonte, and Mary E., at home. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry C. Brown, of Frederick, Maryland.

The deceased was born in Bald Eagle township, on the farm now owned and occupied by John G. Packer, on March 4, 1827. He continued to reside there until March 1865, when he moved to this city, where he has resided ever since.

In early life he taught school, farmed and lumbered.

In 1850 he married Miss Susan Foresman who was the mother of all his children, Mrs. Brown died in 1892. And Mr Brown married a second time to the wife who now survives him.

He united with the Presbyterian church at Mill Hall more than a half century ago and after moving to Lock Haven he united with the Great Island Presbyterian church and retained his membership there until his death.

At the time of his death he was the oldest Mason in the county and the oldest member, but one, of the lodge in Lock Haven, M. B. Herring, of Spring Mills, being his senior. He was pastmaster of Lafayette Lodge, No. 190, F. and A. M., a past high priest of Lafayette Chapter, 163, R. A. M., and a past commander of Hospitalle Commandery, No. 46, K. T.

His funeral took place from his late home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. John A. MacSporran, pastor of the Great Island Presbyterian church, and Rev. S. H. Stein, of St. Luke's Reformed church, officiated. Services were in charge of Lafayette Lodge, F. and A. M., 190. Burial was in Highland cemetery.

Presented $5 00 to the Hospital.

On Friday ex-Sheriff Daniel W. Woodring presented $5.00 to the building found of the Bellefonte Hospital. This was a generous act and it is to be hoped that many more will follow his example.

"Honor of the Corps"

By Charles Champlin Cooper.

The office in which he was standing was large and well appointed not with the extravagant luxury that characterizes some of the large mercantile institutions, but with the rich substantial simplicity that marks the government office. In his official capacity as a captain in a corps of engineers, he had recently been assigned to duty in one of the large stations of river improvement.

Bending over a long table near his desk, he intently scanned the blue-print which lay before him. His nervous fingers traced the lines of a great breakwater that shut out the fierce sea from the peaceful harbor. Measuring the length of the brakewater with his scale, he compared the result with a pencilled memorandum on the table.

"My God," he murmered, "nothing can be done! It means rain or dishonor."

With nervous step he began to pace the floor, now and again halting to bathe his haggard face. The cold water seemed to refresh his eyes, wearied from his all-night vigil, and once more he seated himself at the desk. With an effort, he checked the twitching of his lips and the trembling of his hands, and nerved himself for the battle before him.

Taking a letter from his pocket, he gazed at it with troubled eyes. Since he had received it, the afternoon before, he had read and re-read it until each hasty blot and hurried scrawl seemed burned into his brains. The letter was short and without any signature, but the young man knew it was from his sister's husband, a brother office, major in his own corps. He had just relieved this officer of the harbor work in his charge and the touch of his sister's arms was still about his neck, as she had bidden him good-by and had told him never to forget that her husband and he were all she had in the world.

"What you write," the letter stated, "concerning a discrepancy in the amount of work actually done on the breakwater and the amount stated in the vouchers as paid to the contractor is all true. My God, Ned, I wish it were otherwise. I have gone wrong, first a little, then deeper and deeper, in an effort to retrieve what I had lost. This went on until you came to relieve me of the work. I can do nothing now. The amount is too large for me to make up in any way. You can cover it up, if you will, and I beg you, Ned, do it, save me, and I'll live straight the rest of my life. Wait until the winter storms have swept over the works, and report the loss as due to the ravages of the sea on unfinished work. Change your assistants from one post to another, and you can cover it up. For my sake, Ned, I don't ask it, but I go almost wild when I think of Nellie. For God's sake, Ned, protect her. She is your sister, and it will kill her. You know a little child is expected in a month. My wrong can not be righted, and nothing can be gained by making an innocent woman carry this burden. I ask much, but it is all for her.

Yes, she was his sister, for whom he had worked and sacrified even since they had been children together. They had been alone in the world, and she, a frail girl, had clung to him and lavished upon him all the affection that loneliness had called forth.

Crushing the paper in his hand, he thrust it back into his pocket, and sat with drawn face and muscles.

He was called from his thoughts by the appearance of the office messenger who ushered in a tall, grey-haired gentleman, in civilian dress, but with all the marks that betoken the army officer. His step was firm and elastic, and his shoulders square.

He greeted the younger man cordially.

"Captain, I am Colonel Summers come down to see you settled in your new work."

The young man arose and took the proffered hand.

"I am glad to see you, Colonel Summers. I did not know that you were in this part of the country."

"No," replied the older man as he seated himself, "I did not expect to be here until a month later, but the chief in a personal note, expressed a desire that I run down to assist and advise you in your work here. You were fortunate to obtain so important an assignment. Your other work has met with approval and I have known for some time that you were slated for a good post.

After cordial personal conversations, large blueprints and drawings were unrolled, and the two officers entered upon a detailed discussion of the projects and plans for the work.

It was at the end of this discussion that the older man, who for some time had been intently watching the face of the other, said, "Captain, pardon me, but are you well? Remember that, if you overdo, the government will lose as much as if you shirk. Take it easier and go slower. No man can master all the details of the work in a large district, and you should learn which portion to work out yourself and which to leave for your assistants. You are not looking well, and I advise you to try an inspection trip for a week."

The young man flushed. "Colonel Summers," was his response, "has it not occured to you frequently that all the anxiety and trouble we have in disbursing these large appropriations is without recompense?"

"That may be true, in a measure," was the answer. "Even in the field, the engineers do not receive their just need of reward. In the civil war I knew of a case in point. It was necessary to construct intrenchments between the fighting lines. It was possible to throw up the earthworks at night, but the task of laying them out must be done by day. Lieutenant Sharp was detailed for the work, and he cooly took his transit and went to work. It was fine to see him. It takes brave men to attack an army behind intrenchments; it takes more valiant men to await silently an attack upon their own position; but it takes a hero to stand between two fighting armies, and, without thought of the one or the other, stake off lines of entrenchment. Lieutenant Sharp died a major, and out of his class in West Point, four died colonels, and two generals in the regular line. In a way, we do not get the recognition from the public that may seem due, and yet the men who really count understand and appreciate our work."

"Still," insisted the younger man, "even in the time of peace, the corps is not appreciated. From an engineering point of view, the task of these great works of improvement is a definite one, and the problems are amenable to labor and thought. The financial and executive side, however, is another matter. What compensates for the anxiety that comes in the disbursement of large sums of government money, the trouble with influential contractors, who have access to the powers at headquarters, and the constant and often unscrupulous antagonism of the mighty corporations, railroads, and bridge companies, whose interests are often inimical to Colonel Summers, I believe I am becoming discouraged."

Colonel Summers had been carefully watching the face of the captain. One does not reach the rank of division engineer without learning to read his fellow man. He knew that the man was ill from overwork, or that there was some definite trouble in his work.

"Captain," his voice was low and even, "what you say is true, but there is another side. There is the conscious knowledge of work well done, there is the pride of disbursing without bond great appropriations of the nation's money, and then, too," and the old man stood erect, and his voice grew a trifle stern, "there is, sir the honor of the corps."

Ah! The honor of the corps!

He had forgotten that. In an instant his thoughts flashed back to the old days at West Point. His face blazed red and then great white. Slowly, but firmly, he pulled back his chair and arose. His heels clicked as he brought them together in the old military position, and his hand went to his forehead in the old salute.

"Colonel Summers," he said in a strained and harsh tone, "I have the honor, sir, to report that, by some collusion between the contractors on the South Bay breakwater and my predecessor, the government has been systematically robbed."

The "loose change" which many young men throw away carelessly, or worse, would often form the basis of a fortune and independence.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Much Good Done.

The protracted meetings which are being held in the Methodist church are productive of much good. Every evening large congregations are in attendance to be benefitted and convinced of the truth as it is presented to them by their pastor, Rev. James B. Stein. For the few weeks that these meetings have been in progress the number of persons brought to a sense of sin and the knowledge of the way of salvation show them that they have been anything but in vain. In all sixteen members have joined the church on probation and more will do so in the near future. In all there have been about twenty two conversions. If the good which is now being done continues to bear fruitage the meetings will be continued indefinately. Let all who are interested in the saving of their own souls attend these meeting and learn how it can be done.

Hon. Chauncey F. York, Jr.

On Wednesday evening the stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey F. York, at Warriorsmark and left a great big boy. Mr. and Mrs. York are delighted, as this is their first born, and then it being a boy makes the event all the happier. Col. Emanuel Noll received a telegram late Wednesday evening stating that he was a "Grand Father" of one of the finest young men in Pennsylvania.

WEDDING BELLS RING OUT.

And Proclaim the Marriage of Miss Isabelle Taylor and William Zerby Esq.

Last Wednesday evening the Taylor home on East Howard street was the scene of a very pretty occasion. The event was the giving in marriage of Mrs. Anna Taylor's daughter, Miss Isabelle to Mr. William D. Zerby.

The parlor and dining room where the ceremony was performed and the sumptous wedding dinner served were beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, potted plants and smilax and presented a pleasing appearance for this occasion.

Reverend W. B. Cox pastor of the United Evangelical church pronounced the words that bound these two lives in holy bonds of matrimony.

The bride looked charming, dressed in a white satin messalaine trimmed in cluny lace carrying a beautiful bouquet of brides roses. Her traveling suit was of gray broadcloth.

Miss Gertrude Taylor a sister of the bride was the bridesmaid she was prettily gowned in white paris lawn muslin trimmed in lace. She carried a large bouquet of carnations.

Mr. D. Paul Fortney acted as groomsman.

Mr. Zerby is one of the young barristers of the Centre County Bar and has forged himself to the front in the profession of his choice.

The bride was one of the most popular and successful teachers of Centre Co., and the directors will be at a loss to fill the place she has occupied as one of the best and most reliable of their instructors, she is a sister of Colonel Hugh S. Taylor of the 5th Regiment N. P. P.

Following the ceremony a bountiful wedding dinner was served. The bride and groom and twenty-two invited guests, the most intimate friends of the couple were present.

The bride received many beautiful and useful presents.

The happy couple departed on the 8:16 train east to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Md., and Washington D. C. on their wedding tour. After which they will return to Bellefonte and go to housekeeping in the home formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mosebarger on Bishop street. Both young people have hosts of friends in Bellefonte who join in with the Daily News to wish them joy and happiness over this sea of life.

Wedding at State College.

Last Wednesday evening Miss Sarah Markle of State College was united in marriage to Mr. Calvin Bruce Struble of the same town. The wedding ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lankert at Lemont in the presence of many guests.

Rev. Robert Sechrist said the words that bound these two young people in the holy bonds of wedlock.

Mr. and Mrs. Struble will make their home at State College where Mr. Struble is located in the butcher business. He is a young man held in the highest esteem among the business men of that town. Mrs. Struble is a very bright young lady and is thoroughly acquainted with the duties of making a happy home. May joy and peace always abide with them.

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

SEN. ALGER IS DEAD.

His Death was Unexpected and Sudden.

SHOCK TO FRIENDS

Was in the Senate on Tuesday—Has been a Sufferer of Heart Disease.

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Washington, January 25.—United States Senator Russell A. Alger, of Michigan, died suddenly at his home in this city at 8:45 o'clock Thursday morning. There were practically no premonitory symptoms that the end was near. At half past 8 o'clock the Senator had a pleasant chat with Mrs. Alger in her room and then went down stairs. A few minutes later the Senator suffered a recurrence of the heart trouble from which he had suffered for a long time and death came quickly.

The Senator had not been feeling well for several days. Tuesday night he had expected to attend a dinner at the home of Representative William Alden Smith but at the last moment word came from him that he would not be able to come. His physician had advised him against going out that night because of his not feeling very well. Mr. Alger had suffered for years from chronic valvular disease of the heart.

Senator Alger was in the Senate Chamber Tuesday afternoon, where he stayed throughout most of the session listening to the discussion of the Brownsville affair. About four o'clock he retired to the cloak room where he sat telling war stories.

The news of the death was at once communicated to President Roosevelt and Vice-President Fairbanks, the latter being the first to call at the Alger residence to express his sympathy. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the family residence in this city. The body will be taken to Detroit for burial.

Senator Alger is survived by his widow and five children.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

This is good for our business.

Photographer Mallory took flash light pictures of the Bible classes on Tuesday evening. Twenty-two men and twenty-eight boys were present.

Saturday night the camera club will be reorganized. We are sure that our amateur photographer will be delighted with the quarters that have been provided for them.

If you are interested in mechanical drawing do not wait for a personal invitation but come around Friday evening for the first lesson. The class starts with eight members who have procured excellent drawing outfits.

The evening school for working boys has been doing fairly successful work during the past six weeks but now needs a stimulus. Overcoats and mittens to buy has run some of the fellows short of cash so the school has suffered there by. 12 half scholarships at $6 each, $10 00 for prizes and $30.00 for supplies will put new life into this enterprise. A number of boys would like to educate themselves if a little help could be rendered them. There are two hundred working boys in Bellefonte to whom the Y. M. C. A. would like to extend educational advantages. Who will come to the rescue of these boys and their school with a check for $100. This amount is needed at once or the school will have to suspend for the present.

An Elopement.

Monday of last week Clayton E Walker and Miss Edna Poorman of Runville, eloped, and Tuesday they were married in Corning N. Y. It seems that Mrs. Poorman, the mother of the bride, was opposed to the match, but the young couple's determination to get married drove them to a state where no marriage license is required. They are both very pleasant young people, and there is hardly any one in objections being made. They are now located at the home of Gordon Walker's a brother of the groom, at Runville.

Funeral of William H. Miller.

The funeral services of the late William Henry Miller was held in the St. John's Reformed church instead of at his home on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Short services was held at the home at 9 o'clock.

Has Many Ancestors Living.

Most children feel themselves lucky if they have two grandfathers and two grandmothers living, but five year old Wilbur Rider and his baby sister Adaline, children of Mr. and Mrs. Will Rider, of Bush's Addition, have not only their four grandparents living, but their four great grandparents and two of their great great grand parents. The line of ancestry is as follows:

Will Rider was married to Miss Bertha Gentzel, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gentzel, who are both living, as well as Robert Gentzel's father and mother, of York, and both of Mrs. Robert Gentzel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartley. On the father's side both his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rider, are still living as well as Henry's mother, Mrs. Abner Rider, and Mrs. Henry Rider's mother, Mrs. Florey, of Pleasant Gap. Thus in the ancestry of five generations only the two great great-grandfathers of the little Rider children have died, all the others being yet alive, an ancestry that is probably not equalled by any other family in the county.

Insurance Company Settled

An exchange says: "It is reported from a nearby town that a young man bought 2,000 extra fine cigars, had them insured for their full value, smoked them up and demanded the insurance, claiming that they had been destroyed by fire. The case was taken to court and the judge decided in favor of the young man. The insurance company then had the young man arrested for setting fire to his own property, and the same judge ordered that he pay a fine and go to jail for three months.

Grangers Will Organize a Bank.

The Centre County Grangers will organize a National Bank. It has not been decided whether they will locate in Bellefonte or Centre Hall but at any rate a Grangers Bank will be in existance in a short time in Centre Co. Mr. Farabaugh Vice President of the Cambria County Grange National Bank has been in Centre Hall the past few days completing arrangements for the same.

The Queen Temple Supper a Success.

The ladies of the Queen Temple gave a chicken and waffle supper in their lodge room on Thursday evening that was a success in every particular. Everything was put in royal style and the best part of it all was you were not limited as to what was to eat. The chicken was nice and tender, the waffles were suberb and all the side dishes were served that go with a supper of this kind.

An entertainment was given during the evening which was opened by a selection from Christy Smith's New York orchestra. A pretty piece recited by Miss Helen Hull entitled "The Builders," was well rendered and very much appreciated. An address was then given by Mrs. Elizabeth Hazel. Miss Wian then plessed the audience by a reciation entitled "The Georgia Volunteers." Short talks were given by John Kichline, Esq. Thomas Hazel, Lounger Wian, Mrs. Elizabeth Hull, Miss Lelia Ardery, Captain Philip F. Garbrick, Prof. Francis E. Prey, Miss Elsie Bible and David Barlett, Jr., after which the evening's entertainment closed. The ladies deserves much credit for the manner in which they served the supper and entertained their guests. Nearly $75.00 was cleared which money goes to help the poor and needy of Bellefonte.

They desire to extend their thanks to the people of Bellefonte for their attendance and to Mr. Herman Holtz, of the firm of Joseph Brothers & Co. for his untireing efforts in helping in every way to make this occasion a success and by the way we may state that Mr. Holtz presented all of his employees tickets to this supper, which was certainly a very genereus act.

A Curtin Monument.

Representative Martin of Mercer county has introduced a bill in the legislature which provides for the appointment of a commission of three persons, whose duty it shall be to erect a statue of Andrew G. Curtin, Pennsylvania's great war governor, in capitol park and appropriating $25,000 for the same.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

How They do it.

Last week a man stepped up to us and said he would pay us every cent he owed us if he lived till Saturday night. We presume the man died. Another man said he would pay us in a day or two as sure as we were born. Query: Did the man lie or were we never born? Another said he would settle as sure as shooting. We presume that shooting is very uncertain. Another man said he hoped to go to the devil if he did not pay us within three days. Haven't seen him since; suppose that he has gone, but trust he did not hope in vain: Quite a number said they would see us to-morrow. They must have been stricken blind. One man told us six months ago that he would pay as soon as he got some money. The men would not lie, of course he has not got a cent since.

An Hour Before Dawn.

A curious mystery is the temporary uneasiness of animals about an hour before dawn, no matter at what hour this occurs. Children turn and moan, elderly persons awaken and turn over for another sleep, cocks crow, dogs become uneasy and horses and cattle move about for a short period, when stillness returns for a time. What is the reason? Are the animals affecetd by some magnetic wave which preceeds sunlight an hour or so, or is it the habit one of heredity passed down through numberless generations from an original wild state, when an alertness just before daylight was neccessary for protection from enemies.?

Peter Rider Getting Tired.

Peter Rider, who is behind the bars charged with killing Clyde Auman, is getting very uneasy and tired of his home on the hill. He told some of his friends who went to see him this week that he didn't like it up there and was going to see whether he could not be taken to some other jail. It is not known whether he doesn't like the prison fare, or whether he is getting tired of his company. We feel certain however that Sheriff Kline is doing all in his part to make Peter feel comfortably and easy while he is under his care. Mrs. Rider, his wife, was to see him on Friday and on her departure both seemed to be very much affected.

Carnation Day Jan. 29th.

On Tuesday, Jan., 29th the Carnation league will observe the 65th anniversary of the birth of the martyred president, William McKinley. The wearing of the carnation on the anniversary of his birth has grown more common in the last few years and the next anniversary will probably see more of the blooms worn than ever before.

PERSONAL FAILURE.

People Who Are Always Driving Success Away From Them.

One of the strangest paradoxes in human nature is that men and women struggling, apparently with all their might, to succeed are yet constantly doing things, saying things and thinking things which drive the very success they are after away from them. They are all the time counteracting their efforts by some foolishness or weakness or indiscretion. They are saying things which prejudice people against them and doing things which destroy confidence. Although they apparently try very hard to build a foundation, they are all the time undermining themselves.

Men work like Trojans to get a coveted position and then, by getting puffed up with conceit or by some foolish or weak act, knock the scaffolding, which they have been years in building, out from under them, and down they go. Their lives are a series of successive climbs and tumbles, so that they never get anywhere, never accomplish anything worth while. Always tripping themselves up, neutralizing their work—this is their greatest stumbling block.

I know a powerful editorial writer who wields a strong, vigorous pen, but who at sixty years of age is just where he was at twenty. He has had scores of good positions, but he could not keep them because of his indiscretions, because of a hot temper and a sensitive nature which was always being wounded by trifles. There is no harder worker than he is. Every time he gets knocked down he begins at the bottom and starts planning and reclimbing, only to fall back again like the fabled frog trying to get out of the well.

Now, if this man had taken an inventory of himself in his youth and strengthened two or three little weak points, he would have been a giant in the field of letters.

There are thousands of men who are working as clerks or in very ordinary salaried positions who might have been employers or proprietors themselves but for some unfortunate weakness, some little deficiency in their natures or some peculiarity—something which might have been remedied by a little discipline and self study in youth. It is not an unusual thing to see a man in some subordinate situation who but for one of these little lacks would have been a bolder man than his employer. And so he has to submit to the humiliation of plodding through life in a mediocre position when he feels conscious that he has superior ability to those who are over him.

It is tragic to see thousands of people constantly pushing away from themselves through life the very success they are trying to achieve, pushing it away because they do not control a hot temper, because of some little indiscretion or other weakness or lack in their nature.

Others are always driving success away from them by their doubts, their fears, their lack of courage, their lack of confidence; driving it away by thought habits which repel success conditions. They never make themselves magnets to attract success, but keep so many enemies of achievement in their mind that there is no home for harmony there, no place for a strong purpose. They hold the failure thought, the doubt thought, the poverty thought, instead of clinging to the success thought, the thought of abundance, until they attract achievement and plenty. —Success Magazine.

Philosophers and Traffic.

Many a philosopher in the course of his star gazing has fallen into a ditch—and worse. The fate of Professor Curie, the discoverer of radium, who, intent upon its possibilities, fell under the wheel of a wagon and was crushed to death, might be paralleled by several instances of the kind from lives of philosophers, notably that of Archimedes of Syracuse, who was so concentrated on a mathematical problem when the Roman besiegers at last burst into that city that he fell under their swords in spite of his impatient, "Noli turbare circulos meos!" Stepniak, too, the Russian refugee, was so engrossed with the study of nihilist questions in the course of a walk in a London suburb that he was run over and killed by a train at a level crossing.—London Chronicle.

Lifting a Kettle of Hot Water.

Some time when the teakettle is bubbling and boiling on the kitchen range lift it quickly by its handle and set it on the open palm of your other hand. This sounds like a very foolhardy thing to do—as if your hand might be blistered in a twinkling—but you will find that you can hold the teakettle which has just come from a roaring fire for some time without hurting you. Try it and then see if you can tell the reason why you are not burned. Be sure, however, that the water is boiling strongly before you make the experiment.

A Kippered Pastor.

A French Protestant pastor was the guest of a Scottish preacher at a manse. One morning kippered herrings were served at breakfast. The French pastor asked the meaning of "kipper." His host replied that it meant "to preserve." On taking his leave next day the French pastor, wringing his host's hand, said, "May the Lord kipper you, my good friend."

TAWNEY'S TORTURED FEET.

The Minnesota Representative's Early Recollections of Christmas.

"Early Christmas recollections are associated in my mind always," says Representative James A. Tawney of Minnesota, "with the picture of a great and beautiful church lighted in every part with wax candles—thousands of wax tapers—a surpliced choir and the strains of a wonderful organ; this picture against the background of a cold, black morning before sunup, of frozen rutty roads, of a bleak north wind, a breakfast of ginger cookies and a pair of stiff crumpled boots, which made every step of a three mile trudge through the darkness a twinge of exquisite pain.

"I was nine years old. My brother was twelve, and with superior strength and determination he overruled my desire, due to the boots, to turn back for home. The trouble arose from the fact that we had tallowed the boots the night before, and the tallow had hardened. It was necessary to suffer until the warmth of the foot melted the tallow and made the boots less torturesome. So we plodded on.

"It was our first Christmas festivity. We lived on a farm two miles from Bonneouville, in Adams county, Pa., and brother had conceived the idea of going to mass at the Catholic church three miles distant. For this purpose we had risen before 3 o'clock in the morning, had quietly abstracted some cakes from the jar in the cellar, and, as I have described, painfully I trudged to the town and the big church.

"It seemed big to the nine-year-old boy, and it seemed gorgeous in its illumination. Wax candles I never had heard of, and so many I never dreamed existed. We edged in with the crowd and stood at the rear of the church, and my boy eyes drank in a scene which never has been nor probably will be forgotten. It was wonderful, spectacular, dramatic to me, and that picture punctuates the vista of past Christmas days like a striking work of art in a gallery of vaguely remembered pictures."—Pittsburg Press.

Forestry Work.

The young fellow who is "looking for a soft snap" need not apply, for the work of a student assistant is by no means easy. Nor will the government afford a pleasant vacation in the open air for young men in broken health. It is not a picnic in the cool woods that the student assistant will have. He will be in the cool woods in summer and the cold woods in winter. He will live in a tent, keep lumbermen's hours, as the somewhat discouraging official bulletin, entitled "Suggestions to Prospective Forest Students," reads. He will work with a "gang," get up at break of day, tramp the forest, swing an ax, measure with calipers, count "rings" on stumps and set down figures in a book when his fingers may be so cold that the figures he makes look like chicken tracks. He will do this day in and day out. At night, perhaps too far away to return to his tent, he will build a fire, eat bacon and hard tack, wrap himself in the blanket which he has carried all day and dream of the folks at home. It is likely that he will do this the next day and perhaps several other days. So there is good reason for the none too encouraging words of the bulletin, "Bodily soundness and endurance are absolutely essential for those who take up the work of a forest student."—Reader.

Force of Habit.

An honest hog buyer started up in business and guaranteed the farmers a fair deal. He always weighed the porkers twice to guard against mistakes. Once in weighing a bunch of pigs the second time he found their weight had increased to the amount of 200 pounds. He was at a loss to account for the condition until an employee confessed that at the time of the first weighing he had inserted the toe of his boot under the scales and pried it up, thus cheating the farmer out of one hog. The buyer was indignant.

"What did you do a trick like that for?" he asked. "You couldn't have profited by it anyhow."

"I know it, John," said the guilty man, "but I just couldn't help it."

It had always been the custom to cheat the farmer and the man couldn't bear to see the old customs passing away.

Amy Robsart.

On a Sunday in September, 1560, Lady Robert Dudley, better known under her maiden name of Amy Robsart, being in good health, sent to a fair all the people of Comnor Hall, near Oxford, where she was residing, except one friend. On their return she was lying dead at the foot of the stairs. Dudley courted inquiry. The inquest found that she died by accident, and she was splendidly buried in St. Mary's, Oxford. The Spanish ambassador wrote that Elizabeth had told him a few days before that Amy was likely to die soon, but he may well have had a motive for a false statement. It is Sir Walter Scott's greatest crime that he misdates Amy Robsart's death by some fifteen years.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Tommy and His Pets.

The British soldier is inordinately fond of his animal pets and has also the reputation of coveting those of his neighbors, particularly dogs and mongooses. Parrots he simply adores, and it is calculated that their strength in the service is in the proportion of at least six birds a Tommy. He is supposed to teach them to be personal in their language, but as a matter of fact Tommy is for some unaccountable reason a very emotional man, and his birds as often as not have to submit to a sound musical education, hymns being as often taught them as the comic songs of the day.—Allahabad Pioneer.

HIDDEN DANGER.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Bellefonte Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

Danger Signal No. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of ediment and irregular of passage.

Danger Signal No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the coming of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cures sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Bellefonte proof.

Mrs. Nancy Davis, of 246 East Logan Street, says: "I suffered a bad fall some years ago when living n Rochester. I thought at first that I had breken my back. I was unable to get up without assistance and from that time I suffered for years with a weak back and excruciating pains through the loins and through the small of my back. Sometimes I was completely prostrated and helpless. Doctors and medicines failed to help me and the pain continued until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. I took only a few doses before I began to feel better and when I had continued using them for a while I was thoroughly cured. My back regained its strength and the pain left me. I have had no return of the trouble since."

The "Circus Trust."

Edward Arlington, for many years a confidential adviser of the late James A. Bailey, and whose duty it was to route the Barnum & Bailey Circus, has purchased a half interest in "Pawnee Bill's Wild West and Far East and will take with "Pawnee Bill" an active part in the management. The Hagenbeck and Wallace Circuses have also effected a combination and will tour the country next season under one name and canvass, in opposition to the trust.

These new combinations will increase the bitterness of the tent show war; as the Circus Trust, which is a combination of the Barnum & Bailey, Buffalo Bill, Ringling Brothers and Forepaugh-Sells organizations, is now to be brought face to face with a new and vigorous opposition.

EARLE C. TUTEN,

"The Merry Sleigh Riders."

Jingle bell, jingle bell
Jingles all the way
Oh what fun it is to ride
In a four horse open sleigh.

With hearts light and happy and full of fun and laughter a gay young crowd of girls and boys were taken to the warm and comfortable home of Mr. J. B. Mayes at Lemont. The party was gotten up by Elliott Mayes the train dispatcher on the C. R. R. of Pa., and he had as his guest some 30 young folks who report having had a royal time dancing, playing euchre and singing. One very amusing part during the evening was the "Italie Man" with the grind organ and his monk, "Burkie" took that part exceptionally well while Mayes was the "dago."

Billy Rhinesmith of the palace livery took this young crowd of people out on Tuesday night and he was only an hour and twelve minutes on the way from Bellefonte to the Mayes home, a distance of 9 miles. Quite a record run with a sload.

Men's Meeting Number Two.

The meeting for "Men Only" last Sunday in the Methodist church was such a marked success that we have decided at the earnest solicitation of quite a few to repeat the experiment. Nearly 200 were present last Sunday. The attention and interest was intense. Next Sunday at the same hour, 3:30 pm., we want "500 more men" in the "Meeting for Men Only, Number Two." We want all classes of men, working men, business men, railroad men, firemen, lodge men, club men, young men and old men. There will be no collection, and no "clap trap" methods employed. Our sole purpose is to get an opportunity for a "heart to heart" talk with the men of this town and present to them an earnest gospel appeal. "Wanted 500 more men." Will you be one?

"Get Right with God."

JAMES B. STINE, pastor.

GROOMING COUNTS

But it cannot make a Fair Skin or a Glossy Coat.

Women with good complexions cannot be homely. Creams, lotions, washes and powders cannot make a fair skin. Every horseman knows that the satin coat of his thoroughbred comes from the animal's "all-right" condition.

Let the horse get "off his feed" and his coat turns dull. Currying, brushing and rubbing will give him a clean coat, but cannot produce the coveted smoothness and gloss of the horse's skin, which is his complexion. The ladies will see the point.

Lane's Family Medicine

Is the best preparation for ladies who desire a gentle laxative medicine that will give the body perfect cleanliness internally and the wholesomeness that produces such skins as painters love to copy.

Additional Locals.

—Miss Mary Linn is quite ill at her home on Allegheny street.

—Mrs. Clifford S. Thomas entertained a three table bridge party on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Mary Thomas and Thursday Mrs. D. H. Hastings entertained two tables at bridge in honor of Mrs. Hickok.

—Brigadier General John A. Wiley on Saturday announced the appointment of Capt. Blaine Ailsen, of the Tenth regiment, as ordnance officer on his staff to succeed Major W. Fred Reynolds, of Bellefonte, resigned.

—Rev. W. A. Houck, who served as pastor of the M. E. church in this place for several years, but who is now on the superannuated list, and lives in Carlisle, has been made chaplain of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg.

—Mrs. James Scarlet and Miss Bertha Newbaker, a sister of Mrs. J. Malcolm Laurie, sang in a rendition of the oratorio. "The Holy City," at Danville last night. The piece was so well received that it will be repeated tonight.

—Paul Neff, of Tyrone, the young breakman on conductor Will Halligan's crew who recently had his left arm so badly burned by escaping steam while breaking a coupling on his train at Martha, has recovered and is now on duty again.

—The "A-Mus-U" seems to be drawing large crowds every night. They received a change of pictures and songs Thursday evening that proved very interesting. The entertainment is given every evening in the room next to the Racket store. Admission 5 cents, children under five years of age admitted free.

—A freight train was leaving the main line of Bald Eagle Valley railroad near Milesburg the other afternoon for the switch when a fast freight came rushing along and caught it before it had entirely cleared the track. An engine and seven cars of coal and phosphate were wrecked in the collision.

—There will be quite a number of movings in Bellefonte on or before the first of April. L. C. Jones has rented the Harper house on Thomas street now occupied by D. Wagner Geiss and will move there. L. H. Musser will move from Bishop street to the Potter house on Spring street vacated by Mr. Jones.

—On Thursday afternoon one of our farmers from near Bellefonte had partaken of too much "booserine" while in town and on his way home fell from his wagon, cutting his head and face in a fearful manner. He was picked up by friends and taken to a nearby house and his injuries given medical attention.

—James D. Klinger, a former Centre county boy, and Miss Nellie Marse, of Cincinnati, were united in marriage in that city recently. Mr. Klinger is an energetic, ambitious young man employed by the Penna. R. R. Co., at Youngwood, Pa., where the young couple will make their future home. —Frank S. Tomelnson, the former well known County Home Steward and farmer, has left with his family on the P. R. R. for Aaronsburg, Centre county where he has purchased a fine tract of timber together with a farm with excellent buildings and fine equipment. Mr. Tomelnson stillowns property here and hopes to return to this place in a few years as he likes Clearfield and the people here too well to forsake the city entirely. As County Home steward Mr. Tomelnson was a great hustler and made a reputation of the best kind.—Clearfield Public Spirit.

—The Jamestown exposition management is getting concerned for the success of the exposition since the railroads have ceased doing their advertising in the newspapers which it is feared will have a bad effect on the attendance at this southern show. To spend enough money to advertise the exposition as widely as its predecessors have been will be a serious tax on its finances, and to fail to do this will be still more disastrous. In days gone by the press, especially we ruralites, have given columns and columns of publicity to the Chicago, Buffalo and St. Louis expositions, sent out by the various railroads who shared the profits with the shows, and then if we weren't too poor or too busy, took it in "free." If the editors have as much sense as they ought to have they will sit back and let the railroads and exposition worry this little matter between them. The newspapers didn't object to the transportation exchange in the first place and they certainly can contrive to live and enoy life without it.

—Mrs. R. B. Taylor has another attack of pneumonia.

—The little baby of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith on East High street is very sick.

—Miss Mamie Strunk is in Philadelphia receiving treatment at the Wills Eye Hospital.

—When Francis Speer was telling all over the county how many young fellows their was in Bellefonte who would like to get married he forgot to mention himself. Francis of course has his lady already picked out and makes his regular Sunday night trips out beyond Beavers, and it is said a wedding will occur out that way soon and Francis will be one of the main "guys."

—Mrs. James Kellerman, of near Bellefonte, wishes us to announce that the Mrs. Kellerman that was kicked by a cow last week was not her. It was a lady near State College.

—A fellow that travels on his family's name in the town is known to be buying booze over the bars for some of his friends that cannot buy it. This little act had better be cut out or trouble will result from his kindness.

—Miss Roxanna Brisben of Centre Hall who was operated on at the Bellefonte hospital last week for appendicitus is getting along splendidly and will soon be able to go home. Her many friends will be pleased to hear this good news.

—James Derr, the best known auctioneer in this part of the state is quite busy these days getting his many public sales in order. He is a hustler at the business and always brings the highest prices. Farmers will do well to secure his services.

—Don't forget the ladies of the St. John's Catholic church will give a progressive euchre on Thursday evening, Jan. 31, in the Parrish Hall. Two ladies and two gentlemen prizes will be given instead of one to each party who wins the greater number of games. Admission 25 cents.

—Mulligan Lucas the engine hoeler at the P. R. Watson who will deliver an oration on "Lincoln, the American," and George Weidman Groff who will speak on "Lincoln's Failures." A special train will leave Bellefonte for the College at 9:25 a. m., arriving in time for the exercises. Returning it will leave the College at 3:15 p. m.

A puny child is always an anxiety to the parents. There seems generally no reason why the little one should be weak when it is so well fed. But the fact is that it does not matter how much food the child takes if the stomach cannot extract the nouri-hed from it. No benefit can be derived from just eating. That is the condition of many a sickly child. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are not doing their work, and the body is really starving. It is little use to give fish food's like cod liver oil or emulsions, in such a case, because these also have to be digested; they may lighten the stomach's labor but they don't strengthen it. Strength is what the stomach needs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and increases the action of the bood making glands. It is superior to every other preparation for children's use on account of its body building qualities, and also because it is pleasant to the taste and contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets aid a valuable aid when the bowels are irregular. They are small, Children take them readily

BISHOP HOLSEY SAYS: "PE-RU-NA IS A BLESSING."

He Declares Pe-ru-na to Be a Triumph of Medical Science,

A Magnificent and Sovereign Remedy.

Having Tried Many Remedies and Failed to Find a Cure,

Tried Pe-ru-na and Was Promptly Relieved.

After Twenty Years Bondage to Catarrh He Is Relieved By Pe-ru-na.

A public speaker cannot afford to have catarrh. Even a slight catarrhal hoarseness of the throat becomes intolerable.

This is especially true of the minister who is called upon to preside at religious functions of all sorts.

The Bishop's Strong Tribute to Pe-ru-na.

L. H. Holsey, Bishop C. M. E. Church, Atlanta, Ga., writes:

"I have found Peruna to be a great remedy for catarrh. I have suffered with this terrible disease for more than twenty years, until since I have been using Peruna, which has relieved me of the trouble.

"I have tried many remedies and spent a great deal of hard-earned money for them, but I found nothing so effectual in the cure of catarrh as the great remedy Peruna.

"I feel sure that Peruna is not only a triumph of medical science, but it is also a blessing to suffering humanity.

"Every individual who suffers with respiratory diseases will find Peruna a magnificent and sovereign remedy."—L. H. Holsey, Bp. C. M. E. Church.

Lock Haven Defeated by Academy.

The Bellefonte Academy baseball team went to Lock Wednesday night and defeated the High School five of that place by the score of ten to nine. It was a most exciting contest and yet very amusing owing to the very slippery floor. It was very difficult for the players to keep on their feet and consequently tumpling prevailed. The teams lined up as follows:

Lock Haven		Academy
Peck (capt)	forward	Lingle (capt)
Smith	"	Renton
Wallace	centre	Dunsmore
Powers (ungard)	guard	Oberlin
Plaster	guard	Michell

Referee, Quigley, timekeeper, Larrabagh, Hughes, goals, Peck 2 Smith 1 ungard 1 Dunsmore 2 Michell 2 Lingle 1 fouls, Peck. Time of halves—20 minutes.

—That's the house the doctor built—
The biggest house you see;
Thank goodness he don't get our money,
For we all drink Rocky Mountain Tea. C. M. Parrish.

On Death of Guy Cox.

What means this throng? Ah 'tis proof
A soul has passed away in youth.
Hear the mother's plaintive sigh:
Good-bye: good-bye, Guy.

Farewell, brother; we must part,
Though it's with a saddened heart,
Until we meet beyond the sky,
Farewell, brother, farewell, Guy.

Good-bye, mother and sisters, too.
I'll watch the golden gate for you;
And when we meet beyond the skies,
There'll be no sadness, no good-byes.

S. P. GETZ.

This beautiful piece of poetry was written in honor of the late Guy Cox, of Milesburg, who was suddenly killed in Altoona last week.

The would-be lady is requested to replace Dan'l Boyer's $2.00 cockerel or its equivalent, your lady friend was an eye witness of your action in enticing the fowl from its premises on Sunday morning, take warning from this notice you are known, do not let yourself be exposed to the public your name will not at present be given.

Tom Sheckler had a narrow escape from losing his life on Saturday evening at the station. He stepped in front of the Snow Shoe train, and the pilot hit him, knocking him off the track far enough to clear the train, he jumped up and said he was not hurt, some by standers turned their backs, expecting to find him cut to pieces.

Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Charles Walters after a pleasant visit returned home to Ravena, Ohio.

Albert Austin, of Burnham, is visiting here at this writing.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gibbs will be sorry to learn of the serious illness of both. Mr. Gibbs is suffering from disabilities received when in service in the late Rebellion. Mrs. Gibbs is housed with a sprained ankle and afraid of blood poison.

C. H. Treziyulny is confined to the house with lagripp. Miss Olie has a cold also, so they are in a manner helpless, friends and neighbors have been very kind.

Moshannon.

The Modern Literary Society, held their regular meeting on Friday night, and carried out a very interesting and amusing program. The debate was especially interesting. The debaters being all girls, who put up arguments which were right to the point and hard to "crawl over." The Question, Resolved, that there is more happiness than misery in the world, was won on the negative by Jennie Lucas and Nellie Kerwin, nys. Maude Rankin and Eva McGowan. The recitations by James Weaver and Albert Lucas were certainly fine. And last but not least was the paper by Beatrice Fairfax, which was right up to date with its jokes, puns, slurs, sarcasm and general news.

The Caucus meetings held on last Friday night were very interesting and promises to make politics lively for the spring election.

Mrs. A. A. Groe visited Milesburg recently.

This week we were favored with a new supply of snow which makes excellent sleighing, and the young people are already taking advantage of it. A sled load of the "Literary" folks took in the lecture at Snow Shoe, on Saturday night by John G. Storer, also a sled load of "Shetlands" attended the festival at Pine Glen, on the same evening.

Albert Lucas, of Yarnell, spent Sunday at his parental home here.

Fate of the Game Chickens.

Ashbridge Thomas and Randolph Daggett had two very fine roosters they were chancing off, and in order to have them handy town they locked them in the Bush House chicken coop, and by mistake Robert Adams cut their heads off taking them for just common chicks. Now the boys don't know what in the world to do as they had a great many chances taken on the game cocks. But boys, they are in the soup now and no use crying over spilt milk.

KILLED ON THE CENTRAL.

The Life of Sherman Martin Crushed Out.

On Friday evening when No. 6 on the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania was coming toward Bellefonte and near the Salona station run over Sherman Martin and killed him instantly.

Sherman Martin was a brother of Mrs. William Kessinger of Salona and made his home with her. He has been a victim for a number of years of epilepsy and it is supposed by his friends that he had taken one of these spells and fell on the track. The sad accident occurred 10 minutes after 8 and it was quite dark and the engineer could not see his form on the track. He was a man 32 years of age, and unmarried.

The coroner Jury returned a verdict of accidental death. The funeral occurred from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kessinger on Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Beware, Double House Tenants.

Dr. G. W. Green at Lock Haven, was called to the Barr building where the stork had visited the family of Samuel Fram, a tailor living there, and had left a tiny girl baby. When the physician was about to leave the place he was called to the home of Robert Grass, just across the hallway in the same building, where a similar event was occurring and where another baby girl was born. These two interesting events occurred in the same building at nearly the same hour and the mothers of the babes are sisters.

Death of Mrs. Beck.

Mrs. A. B. Beck died at her home at Snydertown Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock. The cause of her death was tuberculosis of which she has been a sufferer the past year and a half. She was a daughter-in-law of Mr. John Beck, one of the auditors of Centre Co. She was a lady held in high esteem by her many friends and was devoted to her home and church. She was 32 years of age and leaves a loving husband, one son and two daughters to mourn her death. The funeral will occur on Friday morning at 11 o'clock from her late home at Snydertown.

Truant Officer Take Notice.

A report has been sent into this office stating that a number of boys and girls living on Thomas street and near the glass works under 16 years of age are not attending school. They have not attended one session since September. Now the case may be and we feel quite sure it is that these children do not have clothes fit to go to school, and if this is the case, it is time for some "Home Missionary" work to be done right here in Bellefonte in the way of furnishing clothes and food. If the truant officer will come to this office we will give him the names of these children and where they live.

Four Guessed the Number.

A box of fine 5 cent cigars was offered by the Knisely brothers to the person guessing the number of cigar boxes displayed in one of their large show windows on Allegheny street. Four persons guessed exactly the right number and the cigars will be divided among them. 310 was the three figures that carried off the smokers and Robert Hunter, Victor Meyer, of Pleasant Gap, Captain Montgomery and Dave Weirman all picked on this number.

The Spirit of Winter.

The Spirit of Winter is with us, making its presence known in many different ways—sometimes by cheery sunshine and glistening snows, and sometimes by driving winds and blinding storms. To many people it seems to take a delight in making bad things worse, for rheumatism twists harder, twinges sharper, catarrh becomes more annoying, and the many symptoms of scrofula are developed and aggravated. There is not much poetry in this, but there is truth, and it is a wonder that more people don't get rid of these ailments. The medicine that cures them—Hood's Sarsaparilla—is easily obtained and there is abundant proof that its cures are radical and permanent.

The Masquerade Skate.

A masquerade skate will be held in the armory Feb. 7th. Montgomery & Co., will have a line of masquerade costumes for rent, but you must leave your order not later than Saturday with them in order to secure an outfit D-tf.

Discharged From the Hospital.

On Saturday Mrs. Geerge Thompson and Miss Caroline Hughes of Bellefonte were sent to their homes from the Bellefonte hospital. This institution remains in a crowed condition and something should be done soon in order to have more room. 16 patients are now being treated there and some are in a serious condition and it is very unpleasant for those who are convaleeing to be in the same room within two feet of those who are suffering and dying. Something should be done immediately to relieve this trouble.

Those Cruel Boys.

Tuesday evening a crowd of young folks took a sleigh ride to Fillmore, and on their way they were unmercifully snow balled by a crowd of country boys, and when they reached their destination and having a royal time they noticed something burning and upon investigation another crowd of boys from Fillmore had taken the boards and straw from the sled and set them on fire. Boydie Nolan who was the only hero in the crowd among the male sex went out and told the fellows if they burned the sled that he would take the girls home in Parker's boat. Nevertheless the sled was not destroyed and the young folks got home all O. K.

HARRY K. THAW

Seven Men Have Been Selected to Try Him.

MORE TO BE CHOSEN

The Talesmen Were Put Through a Rapid Fire Examination—Difficulty Increasing.

EXCUSES OF ALL KIND ARE GIVEN

New York, January 25th.—Fifty-one talesmen were examined in rapid fire order today in the effort to complete the jury which is to try Harry K. Thaw for the killing of Stanford White and at the end of the day's session two names had been added to the jury roll, making seven in all. One hundred and one talesmen have thus far been examined.

One of the new jurors is Harold R. Faire, a printer and publisher, who is the only unmarried man thus far selected. Faire is not more than 28 or 30 years of age and is smooth shaven. The second new juror is Malcolm S. Fraser, a dealer in underwear. He is perhaps 40 years of age and is married. Early in Mr. Fraser's examination it became apparent from the manner of his answers that he would make a juror satisfactory to both sides and there was no surprise when he was accepted. Faire was registered as No. 6 and Fraser as No. 7 in the trail panel. This panel, as it grows, impresses the followers of the case more favorably.

Of the fifty-one talesman examined today only three were peremptorily rejected. The state challenged a talesman named Nesbit, who stated, however, that he was in no way related to Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, wife of the defendant. The calling of Mr. Nesbit and his examination attracted much interest, the most eager listener being young Mrs. Thaw herself.

There will be no session tomorrow, the court adjourning late today until Monday morning. It is not customary for supreme court justices to sit on Saturday in this city. In the meantime the seven juror will be in the custody of bailiffs.

TROLLEY SLEEPING CARS.

One Dollar For a Berth From Illinois Points to St. Louis.

Sleeping cars will be placed in service Dec. 1 on electric car lines between central Illinois points and St. Louis, says a special dispatch from Bloomington, Ill. The price of a berth will be a dollar.

The cars are now in the shops of the company in Bloomington, Ill., ready for regular service. They cost $25,000 each and weigh 100,000 pounds. Each car has four 150 horsepower motors. They are of handsome equipment, and each can accommodate twenty persons.

These are the first interurban sleeping cars to reach Illinois, and the experiment will be watched with interest in transportation circles.

When a Man Lies.

"If you want to tell whether or not the man you are talking to is telling the truth, don't look him in the eyes," said a Denver bank teller to some friends last night. "I thought it was just the other way," said one of those present. "I've always understood that it made it harder for the liar if you looked squarely in his eyes." "That's a wrong impression," continued the bank teller. "The man who knows how to lie knows how to look you in the eyes when he's doing it. And the man who isn't a regular liar, but who has made up his mind to lie to you, decides first that he must look you straight in the eyes. It is the voice, when you don't look at the eyes, that tells you whether the other fellow is lying. We use the system frequently in the bank. A man will come in to tell us some business tale. We look at his feet or his hands or his knees, but never in his eyes. If he's telling the truth his voice will be firm and straightforward, and the absence of your gaze in his eyes will not affect it, but if he's lying he'll be confused by your action, and his voice will tremble. He'll hem and haw and clear his throat. You may rest assured then that he's stringing you."—Denver Post.

Her Head Was Hot.

Lady Dorothy Nevill in her reminiscences tells this story of the two Misses Walpole, her cousins: "On one occasion, when both of the two were well over ninety, Miss Fanny, the younger, who had that day been rather ill, only joined her sister in the sitting room just before dinner. On her arrival downstairs the latter (Miss Charlotte by name) remarked: 'Fanny, I am going to be ill too. I feel so hot about the head. It must be apoplexy.' 'Nothing of the sort!' exclaimed Miss Fanny, making a dash at her sister's head. 'Your cap's on fire, and I'm going to put it out.' And so the brave old thing did."

The First Dancers.

People have danced for thousands of years and will probably continue to do so for ages to come. This custom is of ancient origin. The first people to dance were the Curetes, who adopted dancing as a mark of rejoicing in 1543 B. C. In early times the Greeks combined dancing with the drama, and in 22 B. C. pantomimic dances were introduced on the Roman stage. At the discovery of America the American Indians were holding their religious, martial and social dances.

Daily Duties.

The best part of one's life is the performance of one's daily duties. All higher motives, ideas, conceptions and sentiments in a man's life are of little value if they do not strengthen him for the better discharge of the duties which devolve upon him in the ordinary affairs of life.

Woman's Marked Down Age.

Howell—You have a sister older than yourself, I believe? Powell—She was born first, but she isn't older.—New York Press.

Gentle Door Taps.

A story of extraordinary deafness was unfolded at a recent meeting of a medical society in Philadelphia. An elderly woman, exceedingly hard of hearing, lived near the river. One afternoon a warship fired a salute of ten guns. The woman, alone in her little house, waited until the booming ceased. Then she smoothed her dress, brushed her hair back in a quaint manner and said sweetly, "Come in."—Argonaut.

The Letter I.

The name of "I" is in Hebrew jod or jot, a hand, and the earliest characters representative of the sound closely resemble a hand with but three fingers. Little by little one finger after another dropped off until only the little finger was left, and the letter became the smallest in the alphabet, a jot or tittle, that is, the "I" and its dot being synonymous of the most insignificant things that could be described.

A Dilemma.

"Then, Maurizio, tomorrow I will come with my wife to see you both."

"Delighted! But look here. Tell your wife not to wear her new diamond earrings or my wife will at once want a pair."

"Oh, the mischief! And my wife was only coming for the purpose of showing them off."—Il Diavolo Rosa.

It Couldn't Be.

Dean Farrar quotes Tennyson as having related to him the remark of a farmer who, after hearing a fire and brimstone sermon from an old style preacher, consoled his wife by saying: "Never mind, Sally, that must be wrong. No constitooshun couldn't stand it."

America's Failings.

America has little of the economic sagacity of England, intellectual acumen of Germany or social rhythm of France.—A. E. Winship in Armenia.

A SOURCE OF DISEASE.

Beware the Man Who Blows Smoke Through His Nostrils.

A popular practice of many smokers consists in discharging the smoke inhaled, especially from cigarettes, through the nostrils. This is even considered by some to be essential to the full enjoyment of the flavor of the tobacco.

The London Lancet, while acknowledging that perhaps under ordinary circumstances no harm is done to the smoker save to his sense of smell, has sounded a note of warning against the habit as a possible disseminator of disease. Hay fever and other annoying complaints have been spread through unsuspecting households by the unthinking visitor who habitually blew smoke through his nose.

The surface traversed by the tobacco smoke before issuing from the nose, it is remarked by the Lancet, is moistened with the natural secretion of the mucous membrane lining it, and this secretion is mingled with the fluid discharged from the conjunctival sac protecting the eyes. It therefore contains numerous micro organisms, which floating in the air, have become attached to the moist and stick surface of the conjunctiva, as well as those which pass over the surface of the nasal membrane. As Tyndall long ago showed, germs are completely filtered off from the air inhaled by the extensive and irregular surfaces presented by the turbinal bones. These germs are carried into the air by the man who blows smoke through his nostrils.

A SENSE OF DIRECTION.

The Prime Requisite For Making a True Woodsman.

A sense of direction I should name as the prime requisite for him who would become a true woodsman, depending on himself rather than on guides. The faculty is largely developed of course by much practice, but it must be inborn. Some men possess it; others do not—just as some men have a mathematical bent, while to others figures are always a despair. It is a sort of extra, having nothing to do with criterions of intelligence or mental development, like the repeater movement in a watch. A highly educated, cultured man may lack it; the roughest possess it. Some who have never been in the woods or mountains acquire in the space of a vacation a fair facility at picking a way, and I have met a few who have spent their lives on the prospect trail and who were still and always would be as helpless as the newest city dweller. It is a gift, a talent. If you have its tiniest germ you can become a traveler of the wide and lonely places. If you have it not you may as well resign yourself to guides.—Stewart Edward White in Outing Magazine.

Science and Morality.

The true student of the professional or technical school becomes heir to a comprehensive and clear understanding of his duties and responsibilities in his relations to his fellow men and to the community. Those duties and responsibilities present themselves to his trained mind in their real proportion. He is neither nondeveloped nor maldeveloped in his judgment of affairs. His university training, especially in the technical school, has taught him accuracy and penetration in the analysis of any proposition confronting him and that truth and knowledge must be sought with the directness of a plumb line. Science yields nothing but confusion to the shifty, devious and dishonest inquirer. The fundamentals of morality are the very stepping stones to technical success or professional attainment.—Scientific American.

The Hellbender.

"There's no reason why the hellbender shouldn't be good to eat," said a scientist. "Its principal food is the crayfish, the same as the principal food for bass. The hellbinder belongs to the same family of amphibians as the frog and is very closely related. Both are hatched from the egg, and both pass through the tadpole stage before reaching maturity. The hellbender is a mighty fine fish, as any one can prove to himself if he will conquer his natural aversion." The hellbender is found principally in streams about the foothills of the Alleghany mountains.

He Never Hove "Gampy."

Micah Jarrett was a shrewd horse trader to the day of his death. He was slightly deaf and used his deafness in his business to no small degree.

One day he sold an old horse to a neighboring farmer, who thought he had found a great bargain. He changed his mind, however, when, after driving his new purchase a few miles, the beast emitted a series of explosions strongly resembling the exhaust of a locomotive.

Straightway he drove to "Gampy," who was sharpening a knife in his dooryard, his son Abner turning the grindstone. The disgruntled purchaser began a long tirade, which was perfectly audible to the old man, who, however, simulated great deafness and finally remarked, "Hey?"

"You're a skin!" howled his neighbor.

"Hey?"

"I say you're a skin. This hoss 'as got the heaves."

"Hey?"

"He's got the heaves. Heaves—heaves—heaves!"

The old man looked at him calmly. Then, indicating his son, he said gently: "Never hove me. Hove Abner once."—Boston Herald.

DOUGHERTY DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Long Needle Pierced His Heart When He Embraced Sweetheart.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 13.—After a day spent in investigating the death of Thomas Dougherty, of Dunmore, who was killed by being pierced in the heart by a hat pin or long needle, the local police and County Detective Phillips decided to withdraw the warrant that had been issued for the arrest of Katie Burke, the girl who was suspected of having feloniously caused his death.

The authorities are of the opinion that they can never break down her story that the wound was accidentally inflicted. She says that she had been mending her brother's clothes with a long needle, used commonly hereabouts in mending miners' heavy outer clothing, and that on going down town in the evening she stuck the pin the bosom of her dress. Dougherty, who had been her sweetheart, hailed her and asked her to take a walk with him. She consented and they repaired to a field, where they sat on a log to talk. After a time he attempted to embrace her and the point of the needle that was in her dress caught in his vest, while the "eye" or blunt end, rested against her corset. In the embrace the needle was forced into his body, through the fifth rib and into the cavity between the pericardium and the heart. Half an inch of the needle was fixed in the rib in such a manner that every time the heart beat the apex of the heart was prodded by the point of the needle. Hemorrhages resulted that caused death.

Coroner Stein, who performed the autopsy, declares that Dougherty must have suffered more agony during the 15 that he lived than any victim of the most cruel inquisition that history or fiction records. With 70 pulsations to the minute, it is figured, that the heart was prodded no less than 60,000 times. He was conscious 13 of the 15 hours.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

What This Great British Institution Represents.

At first sight there is not much likeness between the comfortable country gentlemen, retired lawyers, blase men of fashion and liberal subscribers to party funds, who now drop into rather than frequent their magnificent hall, and "the mail covered barons, who proudly to battle led their vassals from Europe to Palestine's plain" in the days of the Henrys and Edwards, but in one point the house has always maintained its character through centuries—it is an aristocracy of birth, but it is still more emphatically one of wealth. The law of entail and primogeniture has kept the landed estates together as far as the law can. Many have passed by heiresses to new names or been sold by spendthrift lords, many holders of ancient titles have lost the wealth that gilded their ancestors' coronets, but new peers are almost always rich, and a title is still an attraction to an heiress. We sometimes hear that the house of lords represents nothing. This is false. It represents property. Tennyson's new Lincolnshire farmer, whose horse's hoofs trotted "proputty, proputty, proputty," is the type of a vast number of Englishmen. Such men are not only content, but proud, to be represented by the house of lords. They know that as long as the lords have their say "proputty" will have a stanch body of organized champions.—William Everett in Atlantic.

Bear Hunting Statesman.

The mightiest bear hunter in all the west when President Roosevelt is not out there will be a member of the Wyoming legislature this winter from Big Horn county, says the Washington Herald. He is the Hon. George B. McClelland and by his prowess has won the sobriquet of "Bear George." He earned this title years ago when he and a partner killed twenty-three bears in six weeks in the Big Horn mountains, where bruin is extremely plentiful. Mr. McClelland stands more than six feet in his stockings, wears a blond mustache and an imperial and is credited with being able to ride "anything with hair on it." He and the Hon. W. A. Richards, who will soon retire from the commissionership of the general land office in Washington, own a ranch in the Big Horn country, and, curiously enough, although the bears play havoc with the sheep herds of other ranchmen in the neighborhood, they don't bother the McClelland ranch.

Humors of the Channel Crossing.

M. Santos-Dumont thinks that the journey from Paris to London will presently be accomplished by steerable balloon in two hours. It is possible, says the London Globe, but for some time to come we shall prefer the journey of six hours by land and water and half an hour at Charing Cross waiting for somebody to ask us whether we have imported any French cigars or cigarettes.

A Cause For Thanks.

Charles O'Conor once began an after dinner speech in Philadelphia in this way:

"I must confess that I dread to make after dinner speeches. At the most sumptuous dinners, even at such a dinner as this one, if I know that at the end I must make a speech I am nervous, I have no appetite, I find little to admire in the best efforts of the chef. In truth, gentlemen, I can readily imagine Daniel, if he was at all of my mind, heaving a sigh of relief as the lions drew near to devour him—heaving a sigh of relief and murmuring:

"'Well, if there's any after dinner speaking to be done on this occasion, at least it won't be done by me.'"

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

THE SCHOOL DIRECTORS

Association Convention Draws a Large Attendance.

109 DIRECTORS PRESENT.

Hon. Wm. C. Heinle Presided—Address Made by Dr. D. J. Waller, and Dr. J. G. Becht

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR ENSUING YEAR

On Wednesday morning at 9:30 the annual session of the Centre County School Directors Association met in the Court house.

The session was presided over by Hon. William C. Heinle. There were 109 directors present, all of whom manifested a deep interest in the proceedings. H. C. Quigley, Esq., was in his place as secretary and assisted in making it pleasant for those who came to receive instructions.

The law provides that each Director who attends such convention shall receive two dollars per day and mileage at the rate of 3 cents each way, the time not to extend beyond two days.

This is as it should be. If it is helpful to teachers, and it certainly is, to attend educational gatherings, it is equally profitable for Directors to attend like meetings, And if it pays to provide for the expenses of the one class, then it pays to provide for the expenses of the other also while in attendance upon these educational meetings, the good results of which extend, or may extend, to every section of the county, and be of great benefit to the rising generations.

The sessions were held morning, afternoon and evening, the principal instructors being, Dr. D. J. Waller, Principal of the State Normal School, Bloomsburg, Pa.; and Dr. J. G. Becht, Principal of the Clarion Normal School. They are both men of eloquence and power of thought, and the various topics were thoroughly discussed to the best interest of their hearers. The new officers are as follow: Pres., Hon. W. C. Heinle, Vice President Dr. W. C. Glenn, of St. Col., and D. K. Keller, of Potter township; Secretary, H. C. Quigley; Treasurer, John P. Harris. Delegate to the State convention, D. O. Ettere, D. F. Fortney, C. T. Fryberger, E. H. Zeigler and W. L. Foster.

SUBDUED LIGHTS.

Try Colored Shades For Toning Down the Trying White Glare.

Women who pride themselves on having artistic homes are selecting neutral and subdued shades for shielding the glare of the trying white light in an effort to get becoming and restful tones.

Few women will be subjected to an awful greenish glare, a purple hue or even pale blue rays at any time, for careful housekeepers realize the advantage of having a soft shade of light to give a desirable tone to the surroundings as well as to make the most of their personal appearance, and for this reason delicate shades of yellow, pink and rose will be found ingeniously twisted around almost all the electric light bulbs in an apartment, particularly in the dining room, where a glaring or trying light frequently causes untold discomfort to the nerves of guests, besides making them look unreal and often ghastly.

The strong light will be toned down by a ground glass [illegible] recently been [illegible] of glass are screwed to the fixtures beneath the light and usually fit inside the globe. They really add to the appearance, because, being of glazed glass, the inside view of the framework is shut out.

Those made of sheer silk are round, or of whatever shape will fit the bottom of the globe. They should be fitted to a fine wire frame that can easily be fastened to the fixture. The silk, of course, is put on smooth, so that, while the light is softened, it is not dim.

In a dining room the artistic scheme is to have all the light concentrated on the table, leaving the rest of the apartment in subdued shadows. This is readily accomplished by placing the lights directly above or right on the table. Candelabra dropped from the ceiling are most frequently used above dining tables and are sufficiently high not to interfere with the placing of floral decorations in the center. The glare from these lights is softened before it falls on the white linen, sparkling cut glass and shining silverware by placing a shield of glass or thin silk beneath the bulbs and around the edges of the globe. It should be of light yellow, pale pink or red if the desire is to get a becoming light.

SHOOPANG SALAD A FAD.

Chinese Minister Shows Washington Society How to Make It.

Washington society has a new fad, according to a special dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald. It is the preparation of shoopang, or chrysanthemum salad, according to a recipe furnished by the Chinese minister. Chrysanthemum salad is "food for the gods," the piece de resistance of oriental banquets, and under the guidance of Sir Chentung Liang Cheng society misses and matrons are preparing the favorite dish of the gastronomers of the Flowery Kingdom. Here is the recipe for the mysterious dish:

Twenty-four selected hearts of the shoopang or Chinese chrysanthemum.

Twelve "fish wings," collops from the flanks of the moy wen, or sunfish.

Two broiler chickens.

Four young pigeons.

Cutlets from three lobsters.

Bake the fish with flavoring of ki liong, a spice resembling saffron.

Broil the fowl with a flavoring of bood, another Chinese herb.

Then steam all ingredients together for three-quarters of an hour with a strong infusion of the woy flower and serve with garnishing of Chinese greens. The woy flower may be omitted, as it is very pungent and not agreeable to some American palates, though highly prized by the Chinese.

Although called a salad, the shoopang is a formidable dish and in the proportions given is enough for eight persons. It is primarily intended for the principal course of a banquet. It is possible to prepare it in a chafing dish, but a Mongolian cook seems to be essential for a successful concoction. Those who have tasted the salad pronounce it delicious. Many of the ingredients cannot be obtained outside of Chinatown, and the high prices of most of them place the dish beyond the reach of the ordinary household.

She Was the Girl.

The Widower—I've always said that if I married again I should choose a girl who is as good as she is beautiful. Miss Willing—Really, this is very sudden, George, but I accept you, of course.—Pick Me Up.

When money does not talk too much it may properly be termed a modest sum.—Nashville Democrat.

Quite a Change from a Year Ago.

One year ago Wednesday (the 23d of January) the climax was reached in one of the warmest waves for this season of the year ever recorded. The temperature had been exceedingly and abnormally high for three days, reaching the maximum of 66 degrees.

During that remarkable period porch chairs were in use, overcoats and heavy clothing were laid aside. The grass was growing green on the lawn, and bees, grasshoppers, caterpillars and other specimens of insect life were active. Farmers were plowing their fields, for there was no frost in the ground and not a speck of snow was visible even on the highest mountains.

—Upholstering and furniture neatly repaired and mattresses renovated by H. M. Bidwell, on Allegheny street, all orders attended too promptly.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—Get ready for the masquerade skate on February 7th. See whether you cannot secure an $8.00 pair of skates.

—We are pleased to state that Mrs. J. Allison Platts who has been suffering from an attack of the lagrippe is much better.

—Mrs. C. M. Parrish gave birth to a big baby boy on Sunday evening. Buzz is receiving congratulations from all over the state.

—The lowest point the thermometer reached on Sunday morning was 20 degrees below zero at the home of R. B. Taylor on Spring street.

—John Shope unfortunately hurt his hand very badly at the Lingle works lately. So much so that he cannot work and has to carry the injured member in a sling.

—The new skating rink at Philipsburg which was in process of construction, collapsed on Monday and killed Christopher Manges one of the carpenters and injuring severel others.

—On Thursday evening that big bird the stork left a large baby girl at the home of Mr. and John Love on Reynolds Avenue. Mrs. Love and the young lady are getting along nicely.

—Frank Eckenroth placed two new blinds in the show windows at F. Potts Green's drug store Tuesday morning. They are dandies and the artistic lettering is a credit to the firm he represents.

—Billie Sunday, the once famous Chicago ball player, but now a noted evangelist, recently told a Minnesota audience that he would "be after the devil till hell freezes over, and would then chase the devil over the ice."

—Tuesday was Carnation Day in memory of the late President William McKinley, who had he not been stricken down by the hand of a murderer would have celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday, anniversary. We failed to see any Carnation being worn in Bellefonte.

—R. B. Taylor has started cutting ice off of his spring water dam near Roopsburg and is filling his large ice houses for his many customers for the "Good Old Summer Time." The ice Bert is having cut is as clear and pure as crystal and nearly 10 inches thick.

—One hundred and twenty-five young people had skates on at the rink, Saturday night. The famous Coleville band was there and won the applause from the large audience. This famous organization will be present every Wednesday and Saturday nights.

—Harry Clevinstine, who is one of Joseph Brothers & Company's most reliable clerks is not going away from Bellefonte as was stated in last week's issue. Harry is to good a clerk for his company to loose and expects to remain in Bellefonte for ever and ever Amen.

—William Doll, the up-to-date baker has an ice house at the rear of the bakery that holds nearly 400 ton of ice, and Billy's heart is thumping with gladness these good cold days because he knows he will have all the ice he wants over the summer. R. B. Taylor is filling the house for him with good, pure ice from Roopsburg.

—Mrs. J. Irvin Kunes of Blanchard died at her home in that place Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from paralysis, aged 62 years. Deceased had been ill for about two years. She is survived by her husband and one sister, Mrs. Charles P. Smith of Beech Creek township. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence.

—The public crossings and streets in Bellefonte have been kept in splendid condition during the administration of Samuel Showers the present street commissioner, he is at his work morning, noon and night and certainly deserves credit for the manner in which he does his work. Some private pavements in the town are in a fearful condition and if they are not cleaned off before long their will be an accident and some law suits.

—The large, handsome residence of Colonel H. A. Gripp, at Elkhurst, near Tyrone, with practically its entire contents, was totally destroyed by fire Monday morning shortly after 9 o'clock. Mr. Gripp went to the cellar, where the heating furnace is located, and found it filled with smoke and the ceiling on fire. He called the people from the other buildings and an alarm was sent to Tyrone, but by the time assistance had arrived the flames had communicated through the building and were bursting from the roof. He carried over $20,000 insurance on the house and contents.

—160 men attended the men's meeting at the Methodist church on Sunday afternoon.

—A little daughter arrived at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Feidt's on Wednesday evening.

—Among the Bellefonters laid up with the grip this week were Rev. A. M. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Bower and W. H. Musser.

—Henry Beezer bought the "Old Tate Homestead" on Penn street on Saturday from Mrs. Harriet Kurtz. The price paid for the property was $1700.

—An agent representing the Plaza Cube Cut Tobacco Co., left a large box of fine smoking tobacco with the boys in the P. R. R. baggage room.

—The watches and cut glass displayed in Casebeer's jewelry store window is something grand and causing a great deal of comment by the many people passing by.

—A crowd of young men upon leaving the Methodist church Sunday evening before the services were over made as much noise as a bunch of Italians going into the Post Office on a real snowy day.

—Mr. W. A. White was operated upon at the Bellefonte hospital on Saturday morniny for an abscess on his leg. The operation seemed to be a success and Mr. White seems to be getting along nicely. It was not known whether or not his limb would have to come off, but now they are hopeful of saving his leg.

—A Bald Eagle Valley freight train while running into one of the storage track of the lower yards of the P. & E. railroad Saturday evening near Lock Haven met with a mishap whereby four cars were demolished. It is believed the accident occurred by the breaking of the flange on one of the wheels, which threw the cars from the track and they were wrecked.

—On Sunday morning you must not go to the Post Office with the same clothes on that you intend wearing to church because by the time you get from the door to the window where they hand out the mail and back out to the street again you are lucky if you have a stitch on your back. Some thing should be done to avoid this jamming, crowding and pushing. It is not safe for a lady to go there for mail.

—When the first of April comes Mrs Jane Musser will move into the Bartruff house now owned by Mrs. Page. Mr, and Mrs. Thomas Donachy will move into the McClure house now occupied by George Sunday and the latter will move to a house in Boeh's Addition. William Barnhart will move into the house vacated by the Donachys, while William Sauers will move into the house where Barnharts now live.

—Ben Gentzel left on Saturday for Chicago, where he will purchase a car load of horses and cattle. He will very likely bring them to Bellefonte during the week and have a sale. Ben is a hustler in this business and knows exactly what he is buying when on a trip of this kind. He has had wonderfully good luck in his dealings in live stock. The prices of horses and cattle are high, but Ben always sells his at a small margin.

—The other morning F H. Brewer, who lives on Thomas street, went into the cellar to fix the fire in the furnace. When he opened the door there was an explosion of gas and he caught a good part of the force of it in his face. His hair was singed, almost one-half of his mustache and his eyebrows burned off while his clothing was scorched and now he is not saying very pleasant things about that one particular part of house keeping.

—We have recently learned incidentally, and the information received is from a thoroughly reliable source that the Bonds of the Bickford Fire Brick Company have been very favorably received by the investing public. Although these bonds were only put upon the market about the middle of December the first issue carrying a seventy five per cent stock bonus is about exhausted a large block having just been placed in the city of DuBois through one of the most reliable banks of that city.

—The saloons will be put of business on Memorial Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day, if the bill introduced in the Legislature becomes a law. But the day above all other days that should be protected in like manner is June 4th, when a whole lot of irresponsibles are turned loose on a community with fire arms and dangerous explosives, when drink robs the celebrators of all knowledge of the danger to themselves and others, and which are responsible for half the accidents of the year crowded into one day.

Two years ago an interesting little book on "The Redemption of the Red Man," by Miss Belle M Brain, gave the following facts and figures about the American Indians: The present number of Indians in the United States is about 256,000. Of these 102,130 wear civilized dress; 52,616 speak English fairly well; 41,080 can read and write. They live in 26,629 houses, cultivate 361,680 acres of land, and in 1902 raised more than 3,000,000 bushels of grain. There are 249 government schools, attended by 24,757 children, and the entire cost of the Indian service is more than $10,000,000 a year.

WILLIAM HENRY MILLER.

Consigned to the Tomb at 11 O'clock Saturday Morning.

The St. John's Reformed church was crowded Saturday with friends who had gathered to pay a last loving tribute of esteem and respect to the late William Henry Miller who died last Thursday morning at his home at Axe Mann.

Rev. J. Allison Platts of the Presbyterian church conducted the services in the absence of Rev. Ambrose Schmidt, who is confined to his home with the lagrippe.

Rev. Platts spoke of the life that had passed beyond in an impressive and touching manner bringing out the joy and hope that the one who had gone was heir too. That beyond in that bright and happy home a mansion awaited him who had served the Master so faithfully.

The singing by the choir was very pretty. They sang "Going Down the Valley one by one" and "In the hour of Trial."

The Odd Fellows of which the deceased was an honored member held their services in the church immediately after Rev. Platts was through speaking.

The casket bearers were the following gentlemen Messrs Foster Jodon, Wm. Steel, Sr., A. C. Mingle, W. C. Martin, Adam Hazel, and Isaac Miller. Interment was made in the Union cemetery
